

PER CONOSCERE, PER RIFLETTERE, PER COSTRUIRE RETI

If referees are consistently negative about your paper and it's rejected by several journals, this may be a symptom of a biased & broken peer review system. There is of course another possibility...

@cshperspectives | Richard Sever | 15.11.2022

I always say that part of what I love about medicine is that it keeps you humble. Trying to convince myself that getting locked into two different staircases while rounding (once ending up outside in a wet snow) is part of the same process.

@adamcifu | Adam Cifu | 15.11.2022

Ed io non cado nella trappola di schierarmi a favore o contro la pace nel mondo

@ProfLopalco | Pierluigi Lopalco | 15.11.2022

Bom dia. Hoje viajo ao Egito para participar da COP 27. O combate às mudanças climáticas deve ser um compromisso do Estado brasileiro. Trabalharemos pelo futuro do nosso país e do planeta, que é um só e de todos.

@LulaOficial | Lula | 14.11.2022

The McNamara Fallacy (as coined by Yankelevich): Step 1: Measure what can be easily measured Step 2: Disregard that which cannot be measured easily Step 3: Presume that which cannot be measured easily isn't important Step 4: Say that which can't be easily measured doesn't exist

@emollick | Ethan Mollick | 13.11.2022

In public talks, I am often asked what the impact of #AI might be on the human condition (work&life). I then recall the Collingridge's dilemma and the Amara's Law: "We tend to overestimate the effect of a technology in the short run and underestimate the effect in the long run."

@cabitzaf | Federico Cabitza | 13.11.2022

Twitter feels increasingly alive

@elonmusk | Elon Musk | 13.11.2022

Volevo farvela vedere, settimane di lavoro da mucchietto di tavole ad una viola Volevo farvi vedere anche tutto ciò che è caduto facendo un passo indietro, importante come ciò che è rimasto. Ricerca sempre bellezza ed armonia, mai sterile perfezione.

@EmidioLiutaio | Emidio Pignotti Liutaio | 12.11.2022

ho fatto il prelievo del sangue e per qualche perversione che non so mi affascina tantissimo guardare il sangue che velocissimo raggiunge la provetta. ora vado a comprare le brioches per colazione perché ho anche godimenti normali.

@aminuscolo | Anna | 12.11.2022

"As an editor, these are the notes I find myself scribbling in the margins of so many manuscripts: Clarify. Don't get this. What does this mean?..."

@AdviceToWriters | Jon Winokur | 12.11.2022

Don't publish for the sake of publishing. Only publish to move science forward. Quality over quantity. Even if everyone pushes you into the opposite direction.

@Andrew_Akbashev | Andrew Akbashev | 11.11.2022

Sull'incidente diplomatico con la Francia non c'è molto da dire. Elect a clown, expect a circus.

@la_Greta_ | g | 10.11.2022

In an age of information overabundance, critical ignoring is as important as critical thinking.

Center for Adaptive Rationality, Max Planck Institute for Human Development, Berlin, Germany
© The Author(s) 2022. Article reuse guidelines: <https://sagepub.com/journalsPermissions.nav>

SAGE journals

Critical Ignoring as a Core Competence for Digital Citizens

Anastasia Koryeva¹, Sam Wineburg², Stephan Lewandowsky^{3,4,5}, and Ralph Hertwig⁶

Abstract
Low-quality and misleading information online can hijack people's attention, often by evoking curiosity, outrage, or anger. Resisting certain types of information and acting online requires people to adopt new mental habits that help them avoid being tempted by attention-grabbing and potentially harmful content. We argue that digital information literacy must include the competence of critical ignoring—choosing what to ignore and where to invest one's limited attentional capacities. We review three types of cognitive strategies for implementing critical ignoring: self-auditing, in which one ignores temptations by removing them from one's digital environments; lateral reading, in which one vets information by leaving the source and verifying its credibility elsewhere online; and the do-not-feed-the-trolls heuristic, which advises one to not reward malicious actors with attention. We argue that these strategies implementing critical ignoring should be part of school curricula on digital information literacy. Teaching the competence of critical ignoring requires a paradigm shift in educators' thinking, from a sole focus on the power and promise of paying close attention to an additional emphasis on the power of ignoring. Encouraging students and other online users to embrace critical ignoring can empower them to shield themselves from the excesses, traps, and information disorders of today's attention economy.

Keywords
critical ignoring, deliberate ignorance, lateral reading, online environments, digital information literacy, critical thinking, information management

¹Center for Adaptive Rationality, Max Planck Institute for Human Development, Berlin, Germany
²Graduate School of Education, Stanford University
³School of Psychological Science, University of Bristol
⁴School of Psychological Science, University of Western Australia
⁵Department of Psychology, University of Potsdam

@samwineburg | Sam Wineburg | 9.11.2022

who is building an open source and decentralized science publishing, review, and view platform? a play to make scientific development in journals more innovative, open, and less bureaucratic

@MrGoldBro | Aidan Gold | 9.11.2022

The world's elite have arrived at #COP27 on hundreds of private jets to lecture you about climate change. Sponsored by Coca-Cola.

@DiEM_25 | Democracy in Europe Movement 2025 | 7.11.2022

COP27 is sponsored by Coca-Cola - the world's top plastic polluter, who produce 120 billion throwaway plastic bottles a year.

@JamesMelville | James Melville | 6.11.2022

DR. OZ SAYS LOCAL POLITICAL LEADERS SHOULD BE INVOLVED WITH MAJOR MEDICAL DECISIONS, SO THE CITY COMPTROLLER IS GOING TO SIT IN ON YOUR COLONOSCOPY.

@EricTopol | Eric Topol | 5.11.2022

Le "radici cristiane", evidentemente, non attecchiscono in mare.

@CucchiRiccardo | Riccardo Cucchi | 5.11.2022

Pfizer says its bivalent Covid booster induced more antibodies against Omicron BA.4/5 viruses than its monovalent. Some research groups don't see that benefit; others do. This I know: Press releases don't give enough data to answer a question like this.

@HelenBranswell | Helen Branswell | 4.11.2022

Continueremo a fornire il bollettino con i dati #covid19 giornalieri, perché la trasparenza ha connotato tutta la nostra strategia regionale di contrasto all'emergenza sanitaria. Per questo, continuiamo a perseguire questa linea in nome della massima trasparenza.

@AlessioDAmato | Alessio D'Amato | 3.11.2022

Best bedside #POCUS & Eco summary I have seen! Thanks to @DocScribbles for this amazing medical art!

BEDSIDE ECHO / POCUS

THE GOLDEN CIRCLE AND THE GOLDEN SPIRAL

1 PARASTERNAL LONG

2 PARASTERNAL SHORT

3 APICAL FOUR-CHAMBER

4 SUBXIPHOID

5 LIVER

GOLDEN SPIRAL
MOVE YOUR PROBE FROM POSITION TO POSITION IN THIS SPIRAL PATTERN TO OBTAIN ALL 5 VIEWS. STARTING WITH PARASTERNAL LONG

GOLDEN CIRCLE
ROTATE YOUR PROBE IN A CLOCKWISE DIRECTION AS YOU MOVE FROM POSITION TO POSITION

PROBE KEY
MARKER = LEFT SIDE OF THE SCREEN

IVC DIAMETER	CHANGE WITH INSPIRATION?	SUGGESTS...
LS-2.5 CM	SOME COLLAPSE	NORMAL
<LS CM	COMPLETE COLLAPSE	HYPOVOLEMIA
>2.5 CM	NO CHANGE IN IVC	HYPERTOLEMIA

*Adapted with author's license from a 2016 image by @DocScribbles

WHAT TO LOOK FOR:

- IVEF (GOOD, MODERATE, OR POOR?)
- PERICARDIAL EFFUSION
- FLUID STATUS (CHECK IVC)
- SEPTAL FLATTENING (IF CONCERN FOR PE)

@DOCSCRIBBLES

@Paul_Wischmeyer | Paul Wischmeyer | 1.11.2022

Academics: it's ridiculous to think that anyone would pay for the prestige of being Twitter verified. Also academics: I need someone to cover this $11k fee because I want to publish my work in a more prestigious journal

@AdamJKucharski | Adam Kucharski | 31.10.2022

The reasons I think it's essential for #ScienceTwitter and #MedTwitter to stay with @Twitter right now —Spread the truth/facts/good info —Counter & stand up to mis/dis-information —No suitable alternative for reach —There's still block and mute —Don't give up hope for improvement

@erictopol | Eric Topol | 30.10.2022